

LOCAL IN BRIEF

Miss Anderson is not a sentimentalist. The slow passages expressive of gentle emotions are beautifully given, but it is in those long, brilliant runs, filled with passion and action that indicate the really great. She bowed with remarkable dexterity, bringing to her listeners a brilliantly vivacious example of the broad Belgian school. —The Progress, Minneapolis. At Marshall Opera House, Monday, Dec. 10th.

E. W. Dawes and wife were at home in a thoroughly charming manner on Wednesday, when they entertained at dinner in honor of Wm. Kingery and wife of Kansas City. The dinner was splendidly prepared and served, and the day a delightful one for the entertained. Mr. and Mrs. Dawes are a most hospitable and cordial couple and are model entertainers.

The REPUBLICAN on Thursday enjoyed a call from one of its valued Sharon subscribers, Mr. J. A. Johnson, who served in the Union Army under General Grant in the Eastern campaign. Mr. Johnston is noting a picture of Roosevelt upon the wall, found a strong resemblance to vice-president elect in his old commander.

Mme. Cecilia Eppinghoben Bailey sang "Hear Ye, Israel," from Elijah. Her beautiful voice is splendidly cultivated, and her rendition of the song completely entranced the congregation. —Frankfort Roundabout. Dec. 10th at Marshall opera house.

Among those who attended the Grimes-Neff wedding at Slater Thursday from Marshall were Thomas Gwinn, wife and daughter, Mrs. Becroft, Alma Grimes and Lester Godman, Phil and Virgil Grimes and Charles Jones.

Mr. Edwin M. Shonert is a pianist of undoubted genius and ability, and his rendering of Chopin's difficult "Polonaise" was a masterpiece which called forth the heartiest applause. —Seattle Journal. Marshall opera house Monday, Dec. 10th.

John W. Belt, of this county, has traded a 200 acre tract of land on the Pettis-Saline county line to G. M. Francisco for 150 acres of Morgan county land, receiving as "boot" $25,000 in cash. —Sedalia Capital.

Don't forget that upon Monday night, the Marshall Book Store opens up for the Christmas trade. The store will contain a choice and complete stock of seasonable novelties, books, pictures etc.

The Marshall Book Store is preparing for a Christmas opening Monday night. Mr. Merriweather promises an attractive store, full of Christmas offerings and pretty sights.

Dr. Black's Sermon.

At the Cumberland Presbyterian church on Sunday morning, the Rev. Dr. Black preached one of his characteristic historical sermons, taking for his subject, "Salome," the sister of Mary the mother of Christ. It would be putting it lightly to say that the entire audience consisting of a crowded house, was more than delighted. Dr. Black entered into the political and historical conditions of the country as he only can, showing the peculiar circumstances by which Salome was surrounded in the rearing of her two sons, John and James, the sons of Zebedee, afterwards the Savior's chosen and beloved disciples. Those who heard the sermon see in the character of Salome a new Bible picture full of inspiration for higher and purer life.
